

Acknowledgements

Many persons have contributed to this book through discussions, debate and insight. We would particularly like to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the members of the Institute for Security Studies who continue to provide incisive analysis of the conflicts ravaging the African continent. Our appreciation to the Government of Finland through whose generous funding this publication has been made possible and specifically to Pekka Orpana.

We would also like to acknowledge the excellence, professionalism and enthusiasm of our authors. Christian Dietrich would like to record a word of thanks to Virginia Gamba and Jakkie Potgieter for their kindness following his accident and Jakkie Cilliers would like to express his appreciation for the support and patience of Ulrika Soneson. Finally, we would like to thank Alice Coetzee for her superb editorial assistance.
