

VII.C. Recognising the club drugs dealer

In recent years Nigerian importers have become more common, but the retailing of the drugs at party venues is still mainly in the hands of white dealers. Bouncers and club or event management should be suspect, as they control what enters onto the premises. In coloured townships, these drugs are available from community drug dealers, usually with gang ties.

